The Many Dimensions of Shareholder Advocacy

What is shareholder advocacy and why it is important?

Shareholder advocacy is top of mind for investors when evaluating an authentic ESG (Environmental, Social, and Governance) investment strategy. In addition to embedding ESG considerations into the research and investment process, a complete ESG-integrated investment approach calls for thoughtful, effective, and sustained shareholder advocacy. This critical, multi-dimensional set of tasks activates investor capital in pursuit of financial returns as well as intentional impact.

At Boston Common, shareholder advocacy means using our voice as investors and shareholders to drive responsible risk management and positive change in corporate policies, processes, and products. As equity owners in a company, we have unique access to management teams. While the specific ways in which investors can engage with companies varies from country to country based on regulation and market conventions, active engaged investors universally have the opportunity to seek transparency and accountability, while promoting long-term thinking and action.

Such responsible stewardship is the foundation of Boston Common's long history and leadership in shareholder advocacy. Since our founding in 2003, active ownership has been integral to our investment philosophy and our team has played a leadership role in building the field. We continue to dynamically broaden and deepen our engagement to address emerging and impactful risks and opportunities across the Environmental, Social, and Governance challenges of our time.

Our stewardship efforts can take many forms. Below are some examples of how we generate impact as engaged investors:

- Sustained Dialogue
- Proxy Voting
- Shareholder Resolutions
- Issue Area Initiatives
- Investor & Multi-Stakeholder Coalitions
- Public Policy

World Benchmarking Alliance Digital Inclusion Collective Impact Coalition

Full digital inclusion cannot be achieved without a focus on ethical and responsible use of Artificial Intelligence (AI) & algorithms. We risk unintended consequences when ethics and responsible use are not considered across the technology development cycle, R&D, distribution, monitoring, & sales. One of Boston Common's engagement priorities is digital inclusion, zeroing in on the ethical use and adoption of AI by technology companies to support digital human rights globally.

Boston Common is engaging 40 companies on adopting ethical AI policies as part of the WBA Digital Inclusion Collective Impact Coalition (CIC). The coalition, with Boston Common acting as the lead investor alongside Fidelity International, brings together stakeholders across sectors to collaborate and coordinate action to drive positive change and ensure corporate responsibility.

Action on Deforestation

- Boston Common had dialogues on investor expectations with Essity and Mondi regarding certification of sustainable wood fiber and ensuring full traceability.
  - Essity wood pulp is 100% FSC<sup>1</sup> or PEFC<sup>2</sup> certified primarily from either the Nordic countries or Brazil but never from Indonesia or the US where they cannot source 100% certified fiber.
  - Building on Mondi's Zero Deforestation commitment, our dialogue focuses on full traceability and the regional approaches necessary to ensure it. In Brazil, for example, sourcing from plantations is common, whereas South Africa has a more community-centric approach in which communities own the land.
- We encouraged more explicit integration of human rights and FPIC<sup>3</sup> as part of deforestation efforts.
- We followed up on our 2022 meeting with Shiseido, requesting the company review its latest assessment to improve deforestation and biodiversity efforts. Shiseido's goal is to achieve 100% sustainable palm oil sourcing by 2026 and 100% sustainable paper use for product packaging by 2023.
